OLYMPIA TOOK MANY JAPANESE

The Northwestern liner Olympia sailed for Seattle yesterday with 593 Japanese on board. In her hold was the cargo of 1600 tons of coal which she brought down from Seattle, but which was boycotted by the local dealers. The officers state that there will not be a loss to the company on the trip, as the steamer can use the coal in her furnaces and the Japanese will bring in considerable revenue. It is possible that the steamer may make another trip here before she goes on the Nome run. Forty-six bags of mail were taken to the Sound, as well as five cabin passengers. A slight accident in the engine room delayed the steamer's sailing slightly, and she got away from the wharf at 11:30. She should make the Sound in nine days.

REPORTED.

U. S. A. T. Sherman, Bruguerre, April 14, 5:50 a. m., by U. S. S. Boston. Am. sp. heading west, lat. 35.29 N., long. 130.34 W., April 13, 9:30 a. m., by U. S. S. Boston.

The following is a Chicago boy's composition on "The Crocodile": "The crocodile is a large animal that inhabits the Nile and loves to go on the sandy beach to bask in the sunshine and lay eggs. It looks more like a dachshund, only there is more of it at the ends, and it is bigger. There was a crocodile once that escaped from a circus. It roamed over the country, seeking in vain for pigs and small children to devour, and died of starvation in great anguish. You can ride on the back of a crocodile, but it is more comfortable to use a saddle. It is usually quiet, but is terrible when roused. We all ought to be thankful we are not a crocodile."
